Time Date: 12pm-6pm, Monday, May 21st, 2007

Have you seen the movies "Slackers"... "Coffee and Cigarettes"... or 'The Vagina Monologues' (by Eve Ensler)? If so, then you know how powerful short skits, transformed and interwoven into one movie or play can be! From 12pm-3pm short movies will be shown. Then from 3pm-5pm The SURGE Film Festival Do-It-Yourself Film Crew will not only teach a class, but videotape a one-minute skit that you make about anything! Take back the media... and encourage people worldwide to do the same! All documentaries will be shown as one interwoven copyleft movie at 5pm today! Bring your costumes, stage props or bring nothing at all, but most importantly....just be there!

Title of Event: Community Critique for the SURGE Film Festival!

After nearly a year of work and organizing, the SURGE film festival ended after the event on May 21st, but our mission is unparalleled access and outreach so every year we strive more to outreach to people that other events increasingly leave behind. If you have suggestions of how we can improve, or even better, if you want to help us improve (translate material in foreign languages, sign language, increase the amount of Braille materials offered, or just make suggestions, etc.) come join us! Your complaints are welcome here! Also, this will be your chance to learn about volunteering for the L.I.N.K. Annual International Symposium and Film Festival (a co-sponsor of SURGE) which is coming soon!

Date: Friday, May 25th, 2007
Time: 5pm-7pm
